CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

It is my pleasure on behalf of the Australian Soccer Federation to welcome the officials and players of the Hajduk Split Football Club.

It is opportune to record that Hajduk Split last toured Australia in 1949 and in doing so were the first of the leading European Clubs to play on our shores.

This club with considerable tradition will excite and entertain the sporting public in Australia.

I also take the opportunity to welcome the Honorable Ros Kelly, Minister for Arts, Sport, Environment, Tourism and Territories as our guest, along with the many other dignitaries who have been kind enough to join us today.

Finally, may I place on record our sincere appreciation of the support given by the Victorian Health Promotion Foundation, sponsors of the Quit Socceroos. We are also proud to associate this two match series with The Drug Offensive, an organisation of the National Campaign Against Drug Abuse.

following years: 1927, 1929, 1950, 1952, 1955, 1971, 1974, 1975 and 1979.

They have also been the cup winners on seven occasions: in 1967, 1972, 1974, 1975, 1976, 1984 and in 1986.

Hajduk has during its career toured all five continents and has played matches in most of the countries in the world. This will also be their second tour of Australia.

They had previously toured Australia in 1949 where they played the Australian National team as well as State Representative teams. Their record on this tour was impeccable. From a total of 21 games played, they had won 19, drawn 1 and lost 1, with a total goal score of 121 goals.

Hajduk-Split is one of the most famous European Soccer Clubs, as well as being the oldest club in the Yugoslav First Division, having won the National Championship in the

During this tour they had played the Australian Representative team on seven occasions, with the following results:

In Sydney:	3-2
In Melbourne:	3-0
In Adelaide:	6-0
In Brisbane:	6-3
In Newcastle:	1-2
In Sydney:	3-2
In Sydney:	1-0

Hajduk is affectionately known as "Bijeli" (Whites). They have been the darlings of soccer fans throughout the country, because they originate from the small city of Split, which is on the Adriatic Coast. The other big teams in the First Division come from cities with populations of over 1.5 million. Regardless of this fact they have been able to produce players of such an international calibre as Bernard Vukas and Vladimir Beara, who represented the "Rest of the World" with many more international class players, like Dragan Holcer, Jurica Jerkovic, Ivica Surjak, Ivan Buljan, Luke Peruzovic, Vedran Rozic and others.

The present Hajduk squad has two players in the National team, to be contesting the World Cup in Rome of this year. These players are Robert Jarmi and Alen Boksic, who unfortunately are unable to tour Australia due to their obligations to the World Cup.

The present squad is regarded as the most talented out-fit in Europe. It is expected that they will dominate the local competition for many years. Those players who guarantee the prosperous future for Hajduk are Goran Vucevic, midfielder, who has already represented Yugoslavia, Damir Jurkovic, under 23 national representative, Josko Jelicic, also U/23 national representative, Marko Mihic, striker, representative of the 1988 Olympic team, and Igor Stimac, midfielder, the current U/23 national representative.

Hajduk Split had constantly placed itself and participated in the European Cups up until 1987, when the infamous incident occurred at the Poljud Stadium in the game against Marseille, France, when an irresponsible spectator released tear gas into the stadium, and the game had to be abandoned. The club was banned for three years from playing in the European Cups as a consequence.

However, this year, having finished third in the First Division, they have served their suspension, and by finishing second in the Cup they have qualified for next year's Cup Winner's Cup.

The majority of the present squad are local players, including the technical committee: Technical director — Jure Jerkovic, who was capped 35 times for Yugoslavia and was Hajduk captain for many years, as well as the coach, Luka Peruzovic, who also represented Yugoslavia many times.

The Australian soccer public is very fortunate to be able to see such a fine team. The Australian National team will benefit greatly from this opportunity of playing against a team of the calibre of Hajduk-Split.

EDDIE THOMSON

"Man with A Mission"

The appointment of Australia's National Coach is yet to be announced.

Eddie Thomson in his capacity as caretaker coach will look to positive results against leading European Club Hajduk Split to further impress on the ASF his undoubted ability to coach the National Team.

After serving his five year apprenticeship under former National Coach Frank Arok, Thomson welcomes the opportunity to take charge of the Socceroos.

He is quick to emphasise the need for players to also grasp the opportunity to press their claims for a regular place in the Australian National Team as we begin the long process of qualification for the World Cup U.S.A. 1994.

Thomson realises that in Hajduk Split, the Socceroos face one of the leading European clubs with a proud history.

His future could well depend on his ability to achieve results the Australian soccer public now expect from the National Team.

WHAT'S AT STAKE FOR AUSTRALIAN SOCCER IN THE 1996 OLYMPICS?

Australian soccer has a lot to gain from the 1996 Olympics. Because if the Games do come to Australia, soccer will take centre-field as a national spectator sport.

As host nation, our soccer team would be guaranteed a place in the competition. While the competition itself would be played at venues in Melbourne, Adelaide, Sydney and Brisbane.

Melbourne's Olympic Park would be upgraded to seat 30,000 spectators. Adelaide's Hindmarsh Stadium would be upgraded to seat 25,000. With qualifying matches to be played at Brisbane's QE2 Stadium and the Sydney Football Stadium.

And as the one Olympic event to be played outside Melbourne, the soccer competition is sure to be met with huge enthusiasm wherever it goes.

So you see, Australian soccer really should get behind the 1996 Olympics. Or face the penalties.

Socceroos

The Socceroos will come out of hibernation to play two matches against the classy Hajduk Split on June 3 and 6.

The first match is on Sunday at Parramatta Stadium, then three days later the teams clash at Melbourne's Olympic Park.

Hajduk, one of the top First Division clubs in Yugoslavia, finished third in the recently concluded league and were runners-up in the Cup where they lost 1-0 to champions Red Star Belgrade.

With the exception of two players — Jarna and Boskic — selected in Yugoslavia's World Cup squad, the Croatian side will be at full strength.

The socceroos are coached by caretaker Eddie Thomson, who will be in charge until the ASF appoints a full-time coach.

HAJDUK SPLIT A USEFUL TEST FOR AUSSIE

Andrew Bernal, one of the heroes of Sydney Olympic's grand final triumph, will give loyal Socceroo skipper Charlie Yankos a run for his money, and the two Robbies — Wheatley and Hooker — also have a chance to stake their claims.

Jean-Paul de Marigny returns to a national squad where Thomson has made room for young, fresh talent like George Jolevski and Tony Krslovic.

Hajduk, who last toured Australia in 1949, are one of the top four clubs in Yugoslavia, along with Dinamo Zagreb, Red Star and Partizan.

They have won the league eight times and have also taken out the Cup on eight occasions.

Australian fans will discover why Yugoslav players have been dubbed the 'Brazilians' of Europe.

Their technique is immaculate, a joy to behold.

There's nothing they can't do with the ball, though their temperament remains suspect.

Winning against the Croats is not the purpose of the two matches.

For the Socceroos it's mainly a chance to get a much-needed taste of international competition before the next four-year World Cup cycle gets under way.

Thomson, wisely, has largely stuck to the players selected by Frank Arok for the tied series against Torpedo Moscow four and a half months ago.

It remains to be seen just how many of the current players will retain their places in the squad when the new coach is appointed.

Should Thomson be that man, most of them are expected to hold their places, but competition will be fierce.

It is precisely that battle for Socceroo berths which makes the games against Hajduk important, and not just another series of exhibition matches.

The selection of young John Filan, the revelation of the season, was more than justified and he will be challenging Robert Zabica, outstanding against the Soviets, for the goalkeeping spot.

MELBOURNE CROATIA

the Dinamo-Zagreb squad before the final series, and Branko Milosevic, arguably the best midfielder in Australia, who due to injury was unable to help his teammates against Marconi and Olympic. Melbourne Croatia features many more stars of the Australian soccer scene, like veteran George Hannah, who is now in charge of the team as caretaker coach, while Ivan Raznjevic is in Canada; Alan Davidson, also a veteran of the Australian national team; Josip Biskic, the longest serving player. The team also features young Socceroos such as John Markovski and Andrew Marth, and striker Francis Awaritefe.

Melbourne Croatia was founded in 1958, and throughout the years have gone from strength to strength, winning many Victorian championships, Dockerty Cups and Ampol Cups, but have yet to put their name on the National Championship.

Melbourne Croatia was the best placed Victorian team in this year's National Soccer League of Australia.

This talented outfit was the favourite to win the title for the first time, but unfortunately the coach Ivan Raznjevic lost two of his best players in the final matches: Zeljko Adzic, who was just voted Player of the Year for the 1990 season, surprisingly left the club and returned to Zagreb to join

SYDNEY CROATIA

Sydney Croatia is undoubtedly the best supported club in Australia. It has always been one of the best NSW clubs, and one of the best clubs in the National Soccer League of Australia since its promotion to the NSL in 1984.

The Sydney Croatia team has featured the cream of Australian players over the past few years, like Vedran Rozic, Jim Patikas, Wally Savor, Grahame Jennings, Graham Arnold, Robbie Slater and others.

This year Croatia had a disastrous start to the season due to their loss of key players such as Shane Clinch, Grahame Jennings, Robbie Slater and Vedran Rozic. Mid season they lured the most experienced coach from Victoria, Tony Vrzina into their ranks. They then played nine matches without defeat, and finished the season in a respectable seventh place. In the second half of the season, they were one of the top four teams based on their performance during that period.

Even though seventh position for a team like Sydney Croatia is regarded as a disappointing season, the committee and supporters are very happy with these results, especially considering the fact that there were a few young players coming out of the junior ranks who will in future form the backbone of the team. The most prominent young player is the League's youngest top goal-scorer — nineteen year old David Seal. The other players presently members of the Australian U19 Squad are goalkeeper Zeljko Kalac, sweeper Marko Babic, stopper Tony Popovic, and midfielder Andrew French.

Three ex-Sydney Croatia players are presently playing abroad — Jim Patikas presently in Greece, Robbie Slater in Belgium and young Mark Bosnic in England.

The team captain is Socceroo Graham Arnold who is expected to captain the Australian team as well.

The coach, Tony Vrzina, is expected to field guest players for the match against Hajduk and they are Branko Milosevic (Melbourne Croatia), Greg Brown (Melita Eagles) and Gerry Gomez (Marconi-Fairfield). The reason behind this is that Croatia are interested in achieving the best results against Hajduk due to their upcoming tour of Croatia — which includes a game against Hajduk-Split in Split.

ANTHONY FRANKEN

25 years. Goalkeeper. Previous club: Canberra City. He is one of the best goalkeepers in Australia, but missed most of the first half of the last season due to a knee injury. Anthony is expected to be fully fit for next season, and will be challenging for the Socceroo spot.

ALAN HUNTER

26 years. Defender. Previous club: Heidelberg United. One of the strongest defenders in the League, who scored six goals during the season.

MARK JONES

24 years. Utility player. Prefers to play in the midfield. He is one of the best and most consistent Croatia player.

MARK BABIC

17 years. Defender. Most talented young player appearing in the first team. He is currently a member of the Australian U19 Squad.

MIKE GRBEVSKI

23 years. Defender. Previous club: St George BSC. One of the fastest attacking defenders in the League.

VELIMIR KUPRESAK

27 years. Central defender. Has been used mainly as a defending midfielder this year. A very strong player. Previous club: St Albans Dinamo, Victoria.

PEDRO RICOY

24 years. Midfielder. Previous club: Apia-Leichhardt. Pedro plays on the right flank, and he is one of the more talented players in the NSL.

IVAN PETKOVIC

30 years. Midfielder. Came from Zadar, Croatia. He is a very skilful midfielder who has unfortunately missed most of the season through injury.

MANIS LAMOND

24 years. Striker. Bought from Canberra City. Manis is one of the most skilful and one of the fastest players in the NSL. On his day he entertains the crowd with a magnificent display of soccer.

DO YOU KNOW THE RULES?

The Referee has extended time to allow a penalty-kick to be taken. If the ball rebounds from the goalkeeper to the kicker, who scores, will the goal be allowed?

No. The game ends the moment the goalkeeper prevents the ball from entering the goal.

From an indirect free-kick the ball strikes the crossbar, hits the goalkeeper and bounces over the goal-line. Would this be a goal?

Yes, because the ball was last played by a player other than the kicker before it entered the goal.

If the ball is about to enter the goal but is deflected by a dog (or spectator) can the Referee award a goal?

No. The Referee must restart the game by dropping the ball at the place where the interference occurred.

Would a goal be scored if a goalkeeper, standing in his own penalty-area, throws the ball with the aid of a strong wind, into his opponents' goal without any other player touching the ball?

Yes. This is the only way in which an attacking player can score by the use of the hands.
